

OUR FASHION LETTER.

The Girdle Is Now a Matter of Great Importance.

EMBROIDERED MULL IS LIKED

It is Predicted That Elbow Sleeves Will Go With the Summer—Black and White Checked Silks Hold Their Own—Double Skirts Popular.

Many women are compromising twist fashion and comfort by wearing the short corset, to which they have become devoted during the reign of the blouse, and donning in addition a bust supporter to give the correct bust line necessary for princess and empire gowns.

Bust supporters are charmingly trimmed with frills of lace, ribbon knots and wide elastic matching the satin shoulder straps set in the side under the arms, so that despite the support absolute freedom is given to the wear.

LINEAR BLOUSE.
Other bust supporters are of embroidered batiste in white or delicate tints, trimmed with soft frills of creamy valenciennes.

In girdles those with a more or less deep point extending down over the skirt at the front are still worn in spite of the fact that they are more than an old story. The chief variation in girdles is more in their material and ornamentation than in shape.

An attractive girdle is made of pale green liberty satin gathered over a pointed centerpiece of cloth of silver. The folds crossing from corner to corner and forming a large X are of inch wide bands of velvet. The satin ends of the girdle turn under and are fastened in the back with three large cabochons of silver.

The fingerie girdle in the cut is of fine handkerchief linen. Bands of wide swiss-embroidery are used as trimming.

FASHION PREDICTIONS.

Elbow sleeves are likely to disappear in the early fall. It is therefore wise when having a coat made to get enough material for extra sleeves.

Extremely simple though stylish are the black and white checked silks, gingham and volles made with Irish lace yoke and cuffs.

Brown straw hats are very much in evidence, and the smartest are trimmed with black. A flat, round shape is piled high in the back with black tulle, and over the top are a flat bow and a bunch of black peacock feathers. This is worn very much on the side of the head. In fact, all the shapes are so adjusted.

Later on in the season hats will be turned up at the side rather than in the back, as they are at present.

Natural colored straw is the hat of the moment. It is trimmed with flowers and wings or plumes of all sorts and shades. Colored straws fade before the end of the season, therefore the yellow colored braids are an economical as well as pretty fashion.

The summer dinner gown in the sketch is of white pongee. The skirt is adorned with three fitted bouffes and diamond shaped motifs of lace. The deep lace bertha about the décolleté neck is fringed at the edge with pink roses. The girdle is of coral pink tulle, and the lace ruffle is threaded with the same colored velvet ribbon.

LA MODE EVERYWHERE.

The newest and loveliest of the new blouses are set as much trimmed in the back as in front and on the sleeves.

The high collar, with its dainty

Another model of white and black serge has a circular cut skirt with a bias front seam and straight sides, trimmed in flat, white silk fiber braid.

GOWN OF PINK MULL.

The loose blouse is also trimmed with this braid, but the collar and cuffs are ornamented with lines of white and black soutache and the fronts finished with tiny black satin revers set with small gold buttons.

Checked materials for frocks are too much of a standby to cause a ripple of excitement in the sartorial world. Shaded light gray checked fabrics seemed the most approved of Dame Fashion. In spite of the theory that women who are, well—stout—should avoid light colors, these pale checked costumes are found to be very becoming.

Pink dotted mull makes the charming gown seen in the illustration. The skirt is trimmed with three lace edged ruffles, with a fanciful design of lace above them. The décolleté bodice has a bolero effect, and the lace ruffled sleeves are adorned with a pretty flight of pompadour bows.

THE PASSING SHOW.

White lilacs and lilacs of the valley will form the bouquet of the June bride. She will very likely wear an empire or princess gown of some sheer, soft material. Chiffon is in high favor trimmed with folds of white satin and a draped girdle of the same.

A new way to trim the skirt of a summer gown is with a number of ruffles that go all around the skirt and at intervals run up into panels. These panels are outlined with bands of some kind, either of embroidery, ribbon or lace.

Plenty of double and triple skirts are popular with their bouffes inset with motifs, edged with lace or incriminated with medallions of hand embroidery, and often all three are employed.

Indications point to the reign of the tan shoe. The smart shops all have extensive showings of this serviceable footwear.

On many of the percale and gingham dresses are seen crocheted rings used in place of buttons.

One of the latest fancies is the use of very wide liberty ribbons arranged as fichus with long ends.

The gown in the cut is of pale yellow organdie. The skirt is tucked about the waist, and at the foot between a Greek key design carried out in heavy insertion are rows of deep tucks. The bodice has a pelerine effect, formed of tucked organdie and insertion. The round yoke is of valenciennes lace. The sleeves have double puffs and frills of lace.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

Getting His Reward.

"Did you go to the king of Spain's wedding?"
"No, he didn't invite me."
"Perhaps he heard of the way you were talking on the street during the late war."

Tested Her.

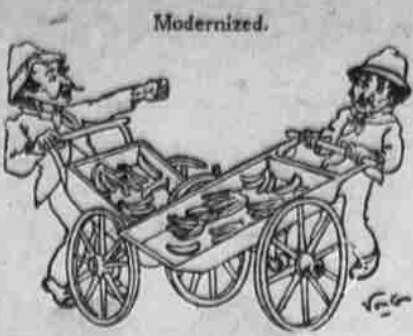

"I understand our friend the book agent is to get married."
"Yes, he found a girl to whom he couldn't sell a book after a three hours' trial, and he thought she would be a good person to deposit his earnings with every Saturday night."

Sees the Point.

"The law is no respecter of persons."
"Possibly not, but the dictionary says pocketbooks and persons are two different things."

Couldn't Be Worse.

"I thought she was a ringer."

A Useful Conscience.

"Johnny, you should always say, 'No, thank you,' when asked if you want a second piece of cake."
"I suppose that is the polite way, but I am afraid something dreadful would happen to me if I should tell a lie."

DRIFTING TOWARDS BRIGHT'S DISEASE

Many people who are neglecting symptoms of kidney trouble, hoping "it will wear away," are drifting towards Bright's Disease, which is kidney trouble in one of its worst forms.

FOLEY'S KIDNEY CURE

stops irregularities, strengthens the urinary organs and builds up the worn-out tissues of the kidneys so they will perform their functions properly. Healthy kidneys strain out the impurities from the blood as it passes through them. Diseased kidneys do not, and the poisonous waste matter is carried by the circulation to every part of the body, causing dizziness, backache, stomach trouble, sluggish liver, irregular heart action, etc.

If you have any signs of Kidney or Bladder Trouble commence taking FOLEY'S KIDNEY CURE at once, as it will cure a slight disorder in a few days and prevent a fatal malady. It is pleasant to take and enlightens the whole system.

How to Find Out.

You can easily determine if your kidneys are out of order by setting aside for 24 hours a bottle of the urine passed upon arising. If upon examination it is cloudy or milky or has a brick-dust sediment or small particles float about in it, your kidneys are diseased, and FOLEY'S KIDNEY CURE should be taken at once.

G. B. Burhans Testifies After Four Years.

G. B. Burhans of Carlisle Center, N. Y., writes: "About four years ago I wrote you stating that I had been entirely cured of a severe kidney trouble by taking less than two bottles of Foley's Kidney Cure. It entirely stopped the brick-dust sediment and the pain and symptoms of kidney disease disappeared. I am glad to say that I have never had a return of any of those symptoms during the four years that have elapsed, and I am evidently cured to stay cured, and heartily recommend Foley's Kidney Cure to any one suffering from kidney or bladder trouble."
